ASTROVOYAGER
& PRAGUE CONCERT PHILHARMONIC

French Electro-Symphonic Crossover Artist

New album & New show

ASTROVOYAGER

AstroVoyager concocts a universe oscillating between electro, film music, progressive, pop and classical. His live shows offer an epic sound and visual experience.

An architect of sound and image...

A travelling machine that has clocked up a dozen record productions over the course of a decade, enriched with notable collaborations, such as currently with the Prague Concert Philharmonic.

An indescribable and unique experience...

Attentive ears may also think, as they listen, of Tangerine Dream, Klaus Schulze and other jewels of German progressive music, the atmospheric moods of early Pink Floyd, the rhythmic flights of the Alan Parsons Project, not forgetting the universes of Jean-Michel Jarre, Deep Forest, Hans Zimmer, Eric Serra, but also of Era or Enigma, and even of Armin van Buuren, Carl Craig and Jeff Mills. Whatever the labels or the reminiscences, the approach of AstroVoyager is undoubtedly in timelessness, openness and accessibility, with the sole objective of making us travel.

AstroVoyager invites his audience on a temporal and spatial exploration of new worlds.

When Electro meets Symphonic...

Big Bang, AstroVoyager's new album, is a musical mosaic of 14 tracks.

For this new creation, AstroVoyager has remained true to the values he cherishes: a subtle blend of electronic and acoustic sounds, carried by perfectly orchestrated electro-symphonic melodies, served by a powerful mix. Big Bang is AstroVoyager's most ambitious project to date, uniting three years of studio work and nearly 30 musicians: the singer Taïga, the guitarist and singer Jean-Paul Florès, the drummer Pascal Poulain... and for the first time, the prestigious Prague Concert Philharmonic.

Join the experience...

A few lucky have already had the privilege of experiencing a preview of the show inspired by the album... They were transported by a multimedia, interactive concert for all ages through 13.8 billion years of history without leaving their seats... before participating as a star at the Big Bang via a bespoke smartphone app!
